Can Break through Germans

HUNS RESISTANCE WEAKENS

LONDON, April 13.—Field Marshal Sir John French's message to his countrymen at home that "now is the time comes for us to make our great move," can break through the Germans' resistance.

British eye-witness statement of yesterday that "There are plain signs of the gradual weakening of the German resistance," are accepted here as an intimation that the pressure on the western front shortly will develop into events of vast scope.

It is thus expected that the next three months will be especially memorable in this epoch-making war.

May Use Regular Postage

The Post Office Department, having given notice a week or two ago, in connection with the War Revenue Act, that all letters and postcards mailed in Canada for delivery in Canada, the United States or Mexico, and letters mailed in Canada for delivery in the United Kingdom and British Possessions generally, or wherever the two rate appled, should be paid by the ordinary postage stamp, will now be required to carry a one cent stamp as a War tax, and also having notified the public that such war tax, while it should be paid preferably by the postage stamp marked "War Tax," could, if such stamp were not available, be paid by an ordinary one cent postage stamp, is now issuing further notice to the effect that postage stamps may be used for the preparation of war duties on bank cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, express money orders, proprietary or patent medicines, perfume, wine or champagne, as well as upon letters and postcards, postal notes and post office money orders, the intention being to provide facilities in those portions of the country where excise stamps are not readily available.

This in view of the fact that postage stamp may be obtained at all points over the whole country, and the fact that the Canadian Postmaster General has issued a circular to all Canadian postmasters to the effect that postage stamps may be used for the preparation of war duties on bank cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, express money orders, proprietary or patent medicines, perfume, wine or champagne, as well as upon letters and postcards, postal notes and post office money orders, the intention being to provide facilities in those portions of the country where excise stamps are not readily available.

Big Wheat Shortage

The following item is sent out by Dominion Department of Agriculture:

"According to reliable statistics, there are tied up at the present time about 2 billion bushels of wheat in the production of the countries at war. This is in the vicinity of half the world's total production of wheat."

Mr. G. W. Thompson, of the Canadian military authorities, argues that, granting that the warring nations produce a one-half crop in the coming year, a deficit of one billion bushels will still be shown. The three countries upon which the filling of this deficit of one billion bushels will rest are Canada, the United States and Argentina. The combined output of these three countries is only 1,249,000,000, their exportable surplus would, of course, be much less, so it can easily be seen that the question is not one to be easily solved, and it behoves Canada to increase her production as much as possible, for this will be easily可 for when the war is over and trade begins to re-establish itself and the nations undergo a process of rehabilitation, the demand for all breadstuffs must be enormous.

The Italian military authorities have ordered army officers to dull the metal on their uniforms and sabres. This is described as a measure usually adopted on the eve of war.

Five important Austrian armies are operating along the Carpathian front. Petrograd newspapers publish semi-official details to the effect that these armies are under the direction of the German general staff, with Emperor William personally supervising the staff.

"The one highest German authority" in Rome has denied reports that Germany is considering peace negotiations. From this source comes the statement that the German general staff has made plans of allauthentic information regarding the natural resources of the unexploited regions of northwestem Canada.

For some time past there has been a demand for a publication of this nature, and the report, which is known as "The Unexploited West," is designed to meet that demand. It gives in very interesting form facts regarding the climate, soil, timber, rivers and lakes, minerals, and fish game of the little known regions of the Peace River district and Northern Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, east from the Rocky Mountains to Hudson Bay.

A copy may be procured free of charge upon application to F. C. C. Lynch, superintendent of the railway lands branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, under whose direction the publication has been prepared.

War Tax On R. R. Fares

Instructions have been received by the railway companies to collect from passengers the Canadian revenue tax in addition to the ticket fare to all points in Canada and the United States. If the fare is over one dollar, but does not exceed five cents, the tax will be five cents, and another five cents for each additional five dollars or portion thereof. There will be no tax where the fare does not exceed one dollar. Any person refusing to pay the tax is liable to a fine of $50.

Object of Women's Institutes

As several enquiries have been made since the organization of the branch Women's Institute here a few weeks ago, by some who were not in attendance at that meeting as to what the work of the institute is to be, we can do no better in response to your query than to quote from one of our exchanges on the objects generally of this organization. The Women's Institutes of this province have a clear object:

"The consideration and simplification of all the problems pertaining to the home, the betterment of home conditions, the increase of general comfort, health and efficiency."

2. The study of home economics, including household architecture, sanitation, hygiene, scientific nutrition, the care and training of children, and the knowledge of values (relative and absolute) of household materials.

3. Mutual helpfulness and social intercourse as it affects the life of the woman in the town or the farm.

In brief to promote the highest ideals of home and the best standard of community life.

As the institutes are strictly non-partisan and non-political, and as their object is one which must immediately enlist the sympathies of every thinking woman, they will have a broad scope. Everyone who becomes a member may look forward not only to being assisted, but also to the privilege of contributing something for the help of others.

The Economy Barn has added to its equipment a new Tailoring car for hire. This barn is up-to-date in equipment and Mr. Hagenauer is overlooking nothing that will add to the conveniences of the public.

Pithy War Paragraphs

In Bucikonia heavy fighting is in progress, according to a Bucharest dispatch to Paris.

Of two Austrian armored trains which advanced against the Russians yesterday, one is said to have been blown up, and the other forced to withdraw after being damaged.

The Italian military authorities have ordered army officers to dull the metal on their uniforms and sabres. This is described as a measure usually adopted on the eve of war.

Five important Austrian armies are operating along the Carpathian front. Petrograd newspapers publish semi-official details to the effect that these armies are under the direction of the German general staff, with Emperor William personally supervising the staff.

Lat Shot by Stray Bullet

A shooting accident which may yet be attended by serious results occurred on Thursday afternoon in the field to the north of Dr. Tupper's house. Ray Porter, the six-year old son of V. A. Porter and his playmate, Harold Chamberlin, were picking flowers in the field and were just about to return home when a stray bullet struck the former, penetrating his forehead just above and to the right of his right eye. The lad staggered about fifteen feet and then dropped to the ground. His playmate picked him up in his arms and carried him to the nearest home, which was that of T. S. Tupper, M. D. Probing failed to locate the bullet and Dr. Steeves and Dr. Tupper are continuing the search to-night. A closer search disclosed a second bullet wound on the right forearm, the bullet having passed in and out of the flesh. The boy is lying in a semi-conscious state. The doctors do not seem to fear any danger but if the bullet is not located by morning, the boy will be taken to the hospital at Macleod.

Neither of the boys had any fire-arm. Two boys were shooting on the railway track north of the field in which the boys were and two more local lads were shooting golfes on the road to the west. Harold Chamberlin, who was with the injured lad, is not sure from which direction the shot came.

All that he heard was a "spit" as the bullet struck. Investigation is being made but the incident may be the result of having played golfes upon the town limits and also a stricter supervision kept upon the use of fire-arms by immature boys.

Confesses to Murder of Brakeman Blair

CALGARY, April 13.—Conscience stricken, after three years of remorse over the murder of C. P. R. brakeman Roy Blair, believed to be "Shorty" Lyons, has confessed to the shooting of Blair on July 30, 1912, at Morley, west of Calgary, while Blair was assisting the conductor in ejecting two hoboes from a train.

The confession was made to the warden of the state penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash., where the murderer of Blair has been serving a sentence and was on the eve of being released.

"The Unexploited West"

Realizing that the reserve of vacant land in that portion of the Canadian west known as "the fertile belt" has during recent years been rapidly settled, the Department of the Interior has published a very comprehensive and elaborate compilation of allauthentic information concerning the natural resources of the unexploited regions of northwestem Canada.

For some time past there has been a demand for a publication of this nature, and the report, which is known as "The Unexploited West," is designed to meet that demand. It gives in very interesting form facts regarding the climate, soil, timber, rivers and lakes, minerals, and fish game of the little known regions of the Peace River district and Northern Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, east from the Rocky Mountains to Hudson Bay.

A copy may be procured free of charge upon application to F. C. C. Lynch, superintendent of the railway lands branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, under whose direction the publication has been prepared.

A Million In Fifteen Days

A whirlwind campaign with the object of recruiting a million men for Kitchener's army began in Great Britain on Sunday last. Fifteen days will be spent in addresses from end to end of the country and of the army and soldiers will parade and everything will be done to create an active interest in the securing of an army in this short time.

As the institutes are strictly non-partisan and non-political, and as their object is one which must immediately enlist the sympathies of every thinking woman, they will have a broad scope. Everyone who becomes a member may look forward not only to being assisted, but also to the privilege of contributing something for the help of others.

The Economy Barn has added to its equipment a new Tailoring car for hire. This barn is up-to-date in equipment and Mr. Hagenauer is overlooking nothing that will add to the conveniences of the public.

Get the Name Right

While the temperance campaign in the province is popularly called prohibition it must not be forgotten that the name of the bill we are to vote upon Jly 21st is "The Liquor Act." This is unfortunate, as there is no danger of the voter becoming confused, and marking his ballot against the Act, thinking he is voting for prohibition. It is of the utmost importance that this be fully explained now, so that every voter will clearly understand the ballot long before it is placed in his hands, otherwise we may lose many votes that were intended for our cause.

It must also be made clear that while "The Liquor Act" has been called a prohibition bill, it does not prohibit either the transportation or manufacture of any liquor. The power to do this does not rest with any Provincial Legislature, but with the Dominion Government. This is also true in part of the importation of liquor, while the province cannot prevent the bringing in of liquor purchased outside, the Act does make illegal the having or keeping on any premises more than one quart of spirits and two gallons of malt liquors. The Liquor Act fully forbids and prohibits the sale within the province of every drop of liquor for beverage purposes. While it may be legally sold by a vendor under affidavit for mechanical, scientific and sacramental purposes, and to a druggist for medicinal purposes and while a druggist may sell upon a physician's prescription for medicinal purposes, no one can sell any liquor of any kind for use as a beverage. As such, the Liquor Act is absolute prohibition as far as the powers of the province permit.

A vendor is an agent appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council who is paid a salary, but derives no profit from the sales made, who can sell only to a druggist, physician, dentist, veterinary surgeon, minister or those engaged in mechanical or scientific pursuits, and who upon conviction, not only loses his position as vendor for three years, but is liable to a penalty of not less than two hundred dollars. No liquor can be consumed upon his premises, his hours of sale are from seven to six o'clock, closing at five p. m. on Saturdays, and opening again at seven a. m. on Monday. He, as well as the druggist and physician, must keep accurate records of all liquor purchased and sold, and these records, together with all affidavits, prescriptions and requests, are open to the public.

The Act can be carried on a majority of the votes polled, and according to the Direct Legislation Act if "decided in the affirmative it shall be enacted by the Legislature at its next session without amendment." According to its own provisions it would come into force on July 1, 1916.

Which Ought to be Done

The government at Ottawa has a deficit of $30,000,000 in current account to make up. They have shovved up the tariff, telling us that this will help raise the money. At the same time they whisper in our other ear that the higher tariff will bring Canadian industries, and are strong in the opinion that Canada talks. Now, which do they mean? If we buy made-in-Canada goods, where's that $30,000,000 coming from? If we buy imported goods to raise the revenue, how about the made-in-Canada outcry? Who's what and why?

The Montreal Herald, commenting on this delicate "phase of a delicate question that touches everybody's pocket, deals with the question thus:

"An awkward question has been submitted by the Ottawa Citizen, one of the Conservative papers now in revolt against an extravagant government. It says that 74 per cent. (or least) has been added to the cost of goods being imported into Canada, this being done by an additional tax which the government says is to raise more revenue. Coincident with the imposition of this new tax, a campaign is being conducted throughout Canada urging the people to buy only goods "Made-in-Canada." Now what are the public to do? Should they buy only goods made in Canada, and thus defeat the import tax collectors, or should they buy foreign goods and thus loyalty support the British government in their efforts to get more money to spend? The Citizen proceeds:

"The government depends upon this tax to help us finance our war budget. It would seem, therefore, that the best way Canada can show our loyalty is by importing as much tariff-gated goods as we possibly can. Only by buying goods made in foreign countries can we patriotically pay our share of upholding the hands of Britain in this great struggle. If we buy goods made in this country, we are not helping the government or Britain—we are merely paying the amount of the tariff to the projected manufacturers in increased prices. That seems clear. Instead of advocating the purchase of Canadian-made goods, the manufacturers and the government should, if they are loyal as they profess to be, and if the latter are in earnest in claiming that the tariff increases are caused by our war expenses, impress upon the people that loyalty to our country demands that we buy imported goods on which the government may collect the customs tax!"

—The Lethbridge Herald

Our contemporary asks, what is the answer? The answer is, of course, that the interests which flagged the present party into power are now flag-waving the country into prohibitive protection, with all the attendant evils of monopoly and high prices."

It may be interesting to your readers to know that Nitro-Culture for inoculating Alfalfa, Red Clover, Crimson Clover, and other legumes is prepared at the Provincial School of Agriculture, Clarendon, Alberta.
This year, 100,000 pounds of the product will be used to cover pastures and fields of all kinds of production. Full instructions are sent with each bottle. One bottle will inoculate 60 pounds of seed.

Complete unofficial returns from the 16 Migratory counties in which the war has been fought in the recent elections show that the results were successful in 14 counties and the "wets" in 2.

No town will become a good business center so long as its business men rely on a few wise merchants to make the effort to bring trade to town. Too often the men in a few lines of trade are about the only ones that reach out for custom. Other merchants wait until these men induce the people to come to town and content themselves with trade that naturally drifts to their place. A public-spirited man should ask himself if he is doing his part to attract people to come to town to trade so helping the entire business community, and no town is a success unless all lines are working to extend the trade as far as possible and trying to bring a larger territory away from its nostrils with a well-built.

No "red herring" of eight to fifteen centavo's will draw attention away from the present day graft which is making a stand at Ottawa that Canada cannot keep away from its nostrils with a well-built.

EDWARD COMMENT

One of the remount commissioners bought splendid colts at $250 each, had them taken to his own farm and there substituted for old and decrepit horses not worth a hundred dollars.

Just as we thought that the end of the world story came to an abrupt end, another one begins.

One of the great revelations comes to us in the form of a new and most remarkable discovery.

Just as we thought that the world was coming to an abrupt end, another one begins.
